Creative direction, concepts & design

I have worked as a designer, producer, art director and a creative leader in the creative and digital arena for over 17 years as part of top UK-based agencies.

My various roles have allowed me to devise, create and orchestrate creative marketing solutions for some of the worlds most recognisable brands in both B2C and B2B. I have a formal education in graphic design and visual communication and upon graduation I soon specialised in interactive disciplines, always operating in the context of broader, multi-channelled projects and campaigns. I have specific and extensive expertise in the areas of online brand experience, user experience, information architecture, usability, graphic design, typography, colour and form. I have held senior digital creative, digital design and managerial roles in various top 100 agencies and have built, managed and developed digital and multi-disciplined creative teams during this time.

ABSTRACT

Currently I work for Upp B2B as the Creative Director of an award-winning, full-service, branding, design, marketing and advertising team.

I direct all creative aspects of Upp's work including design, creative, motion, branding and user experience – and everything else in-between.

As the creative leader of strong, multi-disciplined creative and development departments this role encompasses team & line management, operations, creative direction, strategy, art direction, process and I am still keen on getting my hands dirty now and again.

I have been lucky enough to work for various top-100 UK creative agencies such as TBWA\, BDH and Tequila and have produced work for some well known clients. I have built and managed great creative teams along the way and look forward to doing so again and again.

My formal training and study revolved around graphic design through many undergraduate levels culminating in a BA (HONS) in Graphic Arts under the direct tutelage of David Crow. But, soon after my commercial career began I was given an opportunity which was to ultimately define an 11 year specialism in digital, interactive, new media... it has been called a lot over the past decade or so.

At the end of this 11 year journey I made an intentional decision to jump out of my comfy-ness, re-broaden my focus and rediscover the physical realm.

Since then I have been driving and producing work across the gamut of design applications and leading successful creative teams in this broader capacity. I also Lecture at the University of Leeds - teaching Graphic Design students how to become interactive designers through AI, IxD and UI. So, I am still a digerati at heart, but creating the physical side of the coin makes me a happy guy.

Specialities
Creative direction, design, creative concepts & idea generation, brand development, multi-channel project and campaign development, creative strategy, line management, process, creativity, typography, semiotics, interface design, e-commerce, e-CRM, user experience, information architecture, accessibility, social media, 3D, motion graphics, data visualistion, B2C, B2B.

MOUNTAIN MAYHEM 2010

Now that the dust has settled on another Mountain Mayhem, we can look back at what was certainly one of the best & most memorable ever. Thankfully the weather was kind to us, after Friday's downpour we had just a smattering of rain through the night. This meant the 2351 riders had a perfect mix of light & dark, dry & muddy to contend with over the duration of the 12th edition of the event.

Why stick with white? Our eco-radiators come in a choice of nine colours to add an extra splash of life to your rooms.

YOUR SIZE

With sizes from two to five columns and heights up to 2.2 metres, you're sure to find the right fit for your home.

YOUR STYLE

Our modular design process means the possibilities are endless - you can even have heads and sections in different colours.

HEAT YOUR HOME IN STYLE

Manufactured using an innovative polypropylene plastic material, the ECO-RAD range from Westco combines all the benefits of traditional steel, cast iron and aluminium fittings without any of the drawbacks. Using less energy during production, delivery and disposal, the ECO-RAD is 100% recyclable, so whatever colour you choose, it's always green.

- Sizes from two to five columns deep
- Heights from 400mm to 2200mm
- Ten year warranty
- Maintenance free
- No expansion noise
- No mechanical joints or seals
- No rust or corrosion

PICK A COLOUR, ANY COLOUR

Available colours

Whether it's black for a modern look or blues and reds to brighten up your child's bedroom, you'll find a colour to suit every room. Anti-static additives mean your radiators won't attract dust, whilst unique construction materials prevent rust and saline corrosion - so they'll stay looking stylish for longer. And with rounded edges, the ECO-RADs aren't just good looking, they're safe too.

The digital update for Airwave people

Spring 2013

Airwave and sustainability

Welcome to the new look Air – your online gateway for news, views and updates from the business.

Taking things online is just one step in Airwave's ongoing commitment to sustainability – the key theme of this issue.

Our aim is for the entire Airwave team to get involved in our new sustainability programme and we'd welcome your ideas on how we can achieve our goals. Find out more in our lead article.

Spring 2013
Airwave and sustainability

Airwave commits to a sustainable future

Airwave's commitment to our environment and people is a serious initiative programme. Here we delve a little into what it consists of.

Additional interactive article content:

-  Image gallery
-  Watch the video
-  More information

Our new sustainability programme, 'People, Planet and Partnership' was recently launched with our first Sustainability Report. Outlining our commitment to improving the social, environmental and economic impact of our activities in the communities we serve, it provides a detailed overview of our operations across the UK and how we intend to make continuous improvements long-term.

Airwave has been working on improving our sustainability performance for the past seven years and we're keen for all of you to get involved; to buy in to what we're trying to achieve and think about how your actions impact on our customers, partners and anyone else that comes into contact with us.

We're very pleased with the progress that we've made since 2006, which has included our achievement of carbon neutral status, the introduction of renewable technologies into our service approach, achievement of the OHSAS 18001 Health and Safety Standard and our ongoing commitment to recruiting apprentices.

In 2012 we were immensely proud of our achievements for the London Games. The efforts we put into achieving LOCOG's sustainability targets resulted in a 76% improvement in the efficiency of our cooling equipment and a 42% improvement in the efficiency of our network equipment. We also hired almost 18,000 radios for the Games, which ensured a massive reduction in resource consumption and waste.

Visit Scopus to learn more

Since its launch ten years ago, Scopus has established itself as the abstract and citation database of choice for researchers and those who enable and evaluate researchers and has been used for the verification of some of the most important scientific developments during this time.

Imagine Tomorrow

Research is becoming increasingly global, interdisciplinary and collaborative. From researchers pursuing scientific breakthroughs to governments performing research evaluation, Scopus is the abstract and indexing database of choice – with an eye on the world of research. With 21,900 titles from more than 5,000 global publishers, Scopus allows you to track, analyze and visualize research in the science, technology, medicine, social sciences and arts and humanities fields.

Scopus has become a valuable tool for governments and institutions in the assessment of researchers and the selection and funding of research projects, by enabling effective researcher assessment and trends analysis.

As it reaches its 10th year, it continues to keep pace with the demands of the global research community with further improvements to content and functionality and greater interoperability with the tools researchers and institutions use to enable research and researchers.

As Scopus continues to evolve, the next step is the launch of the cited references expansion project, a project to re-index articles to capture citation and abstract data back to 1970, bringing greater value and enabling more qualified research decisions.

Graphene Isolated

Andre Geim and Kostya Novoselov at University of Manchester publish their first paper on isolating graphene flakes. Students and postdocs from around the world flood to Manchester to take a look at the process for themselves. The team later wins the 2010 Nobel Prize for Physics for their work.

T-Rex Soft Tissue Found

Soft tissue is recovered from the thighbone of a 70 million year old T-Rex discovered in Montana. It is thought that the dinosaur's iron-rich blood helped to preserve the soft tissue for an unusually long amount of time. As of yet, the find has not been used to create a real-life Jurassic Park.

The Proof of the Poincaré Conjecture

Grigori Perelman is awarded the Fields Medal for his work to prove the Poincaré Conjecture, using the type of complicated mathematics that would take up too much room on this timeline to reproduce. He declines the award, as well as the 2010 Millennium Prize (and its $1,000,000 prize money) as he feels that it doesn't adequately recognize the contribution of his colleagues. 100% App Protection

When a customer has a negative experience on an unauthorised app purporting to represent you, it's your company that feels the impact on sales and brand reputation.

- More than 20,000 unauthorised and fraudulent apps for Android devices were found in July 2012 alone. With a high proportion of counterfeit apps, are you an app target to safeguard your brand integrity?
- Smart phones and tablets outnumber PCs in the U.S. for the first time during Q1 2013 and growing
- 100+ apps have been downloaded from Apple's App Store and Google's Play marketplace and a growing number of apps are now available on each platform for iOS, Android, Blackberry and Microsoft mobile environments
